HOME AND COMMUNITY BASED MEDICAID WAIVER SERVICES

Home and community based Medicaid waiver services require a nursing home level of care as determined on the long term care functional screen.

Adaptive Aids

Adaptive Aids are controls or appliances that enable persons to increase their abilities to perform activities of daily living or control the environment in which they live (including patient lifts, control switches, etc.). Adaptive aids are also services and material benefits that enable individuals to access, participate and function in their community. These include the purchase of vehicle modifications (such as van lifts, hand controls, equipment modifications etc. That allow the vehicle to be used by the participant to access the community), or those costs associated with the maintenance of these items.

Adult Day Care

Adult day care services are the provision of services for part of a day in a nonresidential group setting to adults who need an enriched social or health supportive experience or who need assistance with activities of daily living, supervision and/or protection. Services may include personal care and supervision, light meals, medical care, transportation to and from the day care site. Transportation between the individual's place of residence and the adult day health center may be provided as a component part of adult day health services.

The cost of this transportation is included in the rate paid to providers of adult day health services. Meals provided as part of adult day care may not constitute a "full nutritional regimen" (3 meals per day). The interdisciplinary team is responsible to assure that adult day care services do not include services that are duplicative of another waiver or state plan service also received by the participant.

Care Management Team

Care/Case Management services are provided by an interdisciplinary care management team (IDT). The participant is the center of the IDT. The IDT consists of, at minimum, a registered nurse and a social services coordinator, and may also include other professionals as appropriate to the needs of the participant and family or other informal supports requested by the participant. The IDT initiates and oversees the initial comprehensive assessment of needs and reassessment process, the results of which are used in developing the individual's participant-centered plan of care.

The IDT identifies the participant's preferred outcomes and the services needed to support those outcomes and monitors the participant's health and welfare, the delivery of services, and progress in achieving identified outcomes. The IDT also carries out activities that help participants and their families identify other service needs and gain access to medical, social, rehabilitation, vocational, educational and other services identified.

Employment Related Services

Specialty: Prevocational Services

Prevocational services involve the provision of learning and work experiences where a member can develop general, non-job-task-specific strengths and skills that contribute to employability in paid employment in integrated, community settings. Services are expected to occur over a defined period of time as determined by the member and his/her care planning team in the ongoing member-centered planning process.

Services are expected to specifically involve strategies that enhance a participant's employability in integrated, community settings. Competitive employment or supported employment are considered successful outcomes of prevocational services.

Prevocational services should enable each member to attain the highest possible wage and work which is in the most integrated setting and matched to the member's interests, strengths, priorities, abilities, and capabilities. Services are intended to develop and teach general skills that lead to employment including but not limited to: ability to communicate effectively with supervisors, co-workers and customers; generally accepted community workplace conduct and dress; ability to follow directions; ability to attend to tasks; workplace problem solving skills and strategies; general workplace safety and mobility training.

Support of employment outcomes is a part of the member-centered planning process, which includes the individual, his or her guardian if any, and other members of the interdisciplinary care planning team, and emphasizes informed consumer choice. This process includes identification of the member's personal outcomes and identification of services and items, including prevocational services and other employment-related services that advance achievement of the member's outcomes. The member and his or her interdisciplinary care planning team will identify alternatives that are effective in supporting his or her outcomes and from those select the most cost-effective alternative.

Members who receive prevocational services during some days or parts of days may also receive supported employment, educational, or day services at other times.

Members participating in prevocational services may be compensated in accordance with applicable federal laws and regulations, but the provision of prevocational services is intended to lead to a permanent integrated employment situation.

Participation in prevocational services is not a required pre-requisite for supported employment services provided under the waiver. Prevocational services may be provided in a variety of community locations including but not limited to work centers operated by community rehabilitation programs (CRPS).

Supportive Home Care

Supportive Home Care (SHC) is the provision of services to directly assist persons with daily activities and personal needs to meet their daily living needs and to insure adequate functioning in their home. Services include:

A. Hands-On assistance with activities of daily living such as dressing/undressing, bathing, feeding, toileting, assistance with ambulation (including the use of a walker, cane, etc.), care of hair and care of teeth or dentures. This can also include preparation and cleaning of areas used during personal care activities such as the bathroom and kitchen.

B. Observation of the participant to assure safety, oversight direction of the participant to complete activities of daily living, instrumental activities of daily living, or companionship for the participant (excluding hands-on care).

C. Routine housecleaning and housekeeping activities performed for a participant consisting of tasks that take place on a daily, weekly or other regular basis, including: washing dishes, laundry, dusting, vacuuming, meal preparation and shopping for food and similar activities that do not involve hands-on care of the participant.

D. Intermittent major household tasks that must be performed seasonally or in response to some natural or other periodic event. They include: outdoor activities such as yard work and snow shoveling; indoor activities such as window washing, cleaning of attics and basements, cleaning of carpets, rugs and drapery, and refrigerator/freezer defrosting; and the necessary cleaning of vehicles, wheelchairs and other adaptive equipment and home modifications such as ramps.

An unrelated live-in caregiver may provide any or all of the types of supportive home care services. Payment of an unrelated live-in caregiver may be reduced by the value of room and board in accordance with any applicable wage and hour laws.

Supportive Home Care: Preferred Provider

Supportive Home Care-Preferred Providers listed in this directory are the providers available to provide SHC services. If a member expresses a preference for a different SHC agency, the IDT will review the request using the resource allocation decision method.
